When outsourcing comes to the mind, one might lean to think about the hassles of it. Loss of control, hidden costs, communication barriers – these all are real problems.

Outsourcing worries are very common.

The feeling of loss of control is real. What if the virtual talent might not be fully conversant in the language that you prefer?

Finally there are unseen costs along the way that are not disclosed at the outset.

We get that.

Wflair believes that global talent hiring should not be a tiresome process. Rather it should be such a great experience that you would like to spread the word within your network.

At Wflair, your needs are center-stage. Now you have the avenues to access talent and reduce costs, both at the same time.

Beat that!

Outsourcing can be the solution to your immediate as well as long-term problems.

You can TRY a virtual talent for a few hours a week before you decide to have a longer commitment.

This way you have a way to test the services for a shorter period. If you are not satisfied with the employee that you selected, you can replace immediately.

You are in control from day one. All you have to do is to let us know your requirements and within a matter of hours, you will have access to a big pool of talent. You will also have talent rate alongside at your disposal.

All this within the confines of Wflair's state-of-the-art facility in Gurgaon, India.

No need to worry about unstable and insecure internet connection. No need to worry about keeping a tab on what the employee is doing during the work hours.

No need to worry about any sensitive information getting out of the premises.

With Wflair's oversight, this is taken care of. You have the ability to track your employee's activities and have the ability to stay connected.

This way you know that your employee is 100% working only for your needs.

You can communicate with your employees through HD video conferencing. You can chat with your resources and stay in touch with your dedicated remote employee.

You can leverage the time-zone difference to your benefit.

Imagine employees working while you are offline.

This ensures fast turnaround times and more time to work on other things.

May You Convert Every Opportunity

The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic is not evenly distributed across the entire economy. It has had a disproportionate impact on different economies, and companies have tried to stay afloat and keep costs down. Many companies have seized this chance and changed their strategy.

According to Statista (www.statista.com), in 2019 the global market size of outsourced services amounted to USD 92.5 billion. This trend will remain strong for many reasons.

As per another study by Pew Research (www.pewresearch.org), the unemployment rate in the three months of COVID-19 was higher than during the Great Recession. This clearly shows the impact of the coronavirus on the US economy.

Additionally, since the schools continue to remain closed, parents are busy looking after their kids and cannot get back to work. This situation will only change if adequate safeguards are put in place to ensure safe re-opening.

All of this puts enormous pressure on companies to work as they have done in the past, as the demand for services increases. In this case, outsourcing seems to be a pragmatic approach.

Offshore staffing solutions are a god-send since non-core activities can be delegated to offshore partners. This configuration helps companies to focus on core competencies, which leads to better profit margins and lower overheads. This approach is a great way to ease companies of the extra personnel costs that are part of the remuneration. Offshore staffing partnership leads to savings in administrative costs, taxes, levies, and unemployment insurance costs.

No need to worry about transportation costs. No need to worry about equipment maintenance. Each dedicated employee has their own desk, a spacious workplace, secure Internet access and a safe premise where privacy and confidentiality is maintained.

In less than a day, companies can start working with their new hires. Offshore outsourcing offers an expanded pool of skilled personnel. Outsourcing solution provider can help save up to 70% of the onshore employee costs.

Wflair (www.wflair.com) offers such solutions at an attractive price. With three different options to choose from, there is a lot of mixing and matching that is possible. A team model is perfect when companies want to have a mix of diverse skills within a team. Thus, for example, a digital marketing team can have content creators, design specialists, SEO specialists and social media experts. This is a strong combination for any company that wants to improve its online visibility and reach. If demand is lower, the ad hoc model works best where firms only pay for a fixed number of hours.

Unlike freelancers, Wflair offers dedicated employees who work only for one employer. All employees work from a completely safe, managed premise that takes care of all employees needs.

Wflair does the hard work of sourcing the right candidate profiles that fit the job description. The shortlisting and the job interview processes follow and then the final offer. All this could happen within a day!

The service packages are available at reasonably low price and promise enormous savings without sacrificing quality.

The COVID-19 pandemic is having an impact on the global economy, forcing companies to lay off employees, and for many, the cost of hiring a full-time employee has become prohibitive and simply impractical.

COVID-19's health concerns have made work from home the "new normal."

Many companies are now adopting an approach of employing dedicated employees to meet immediate needs. This comes with a lot of benefits, including no additional administrative burden.

Employers can now access a talent pool and shortlist those that meet their needs. A virtual employee can be the solution to your current hiring woes.
